

Welcome to One for All Organization Note

We're a non-profit technical school dedicated to empowering young people living in poverty through skills training, education, and support. Founded by local Malawian singer James Kajawo, our mission is to transform lives and communities by providing access to quality training in various trades.

Our Vision

By 2030, we aim to empower more young people to achieve their dreams, reducing the impact of poverty and COVID-19.

Our Mission

We provide support to young people living in poverty by training them in handcrafts for free such as:

- Carpentry
- Tailoring
- plumbing
- welding
- Electrical Installation
- Music (including instrument training and recording)

What We Do

- Train young people in various trades, providing resources and materials
- Distribute school materials to needy students
- Provide support to parents and guardians on the importance of education
- Offer counseling and mentorship to our students

Our Achievements

- Trained 50 in Carpentry, 300 in Tailoring, 150 in Electrical Installation, and 8 in Music
- Provided 203 brand new sewing machines to tailoring graduates
- Distributed over 15,000 notebooks and pens
- Sensitized 30% of the community on the importance of supporting young people

Our Current Projects

- Training 222 youth from 52 village headmen

Our Challenges

- Limited resources to reach more young people
- Need for support to sustain our programs

Get Involved

Your support will help us:

- Reduce gang involvement and early pregnancies
- Expand access to digital finance banking services
- Build security and prosperity for our students and their communities
- Provide financial services in rural areas
